TOWN FATHERS IN SESSION

BIG PETITION AGAINST GASOLINE TANK PRESENTED.

Ordinance Agreement About Buford Avenue Passed—New Pavements Discussed.

At the regular July session of the Town Council of Gettysburg, attended by Councilmen Butt, Hamilton, Shearer, Trostle and Beck, the following business was disposed of:

Harry Troxel and Edward H. Culp appeared before council representing that the pavements proposed to be built by the School Board along the High School building on Hanover street would not be uniform with other pavements and would result in width of Hanover street not being uniform with York street. Motion carried that work on pavement should be stopped and Highway Committee should investigate and determine what width of pavement should be built at school building.

Borough Attorney Wible presented an ordinance authorizing the execution of an agreement between the Chambersburg Turnpike Co. and the Borough of Gettysburg concerning the ceding of certain strips of land along the pike in the Borough of Gettysburg and releasing the turnpike from all liability in relation to the same. The ordinance upon vote was unanimously adopted.

The matter of the gasoline tank proposed to be erected at intersection of Chambersburg street and Reading railroad, the following petition of residents was presented:

We, the undersigned citizens of the second ward of the Borough of Gettysburg, do hereby protest against the erection of an oil and gasoline tank on the lot at the intersection of Chambersburg street and the Reading railroad. We feel that no less appropriate location could be found in the borough, that location is in the residential section of the town, close to one of the public school buildings, along a railroad switch which is in continual use. We earnestly request that the permission to erect this tank at this location be annulled, because it will be a menace to the safety of the buildings and citizens of that section of the town.

This petition was signed by James T. Long, Lillian H. Long, Geo. A. Taylor, David McGuigan, Rose A. Guntz, Mrs. M. A. Garvin, Lenora G. Smoot, Mrs. W. L. Heathcote, Florence Heathcote, J. B. Basehoar, C. G. Rowan, Mrs. C. G. Rowan, Calvin Gilbert, W. T. Ziegler, Oliver J. Bosten, Charles E. Gilbert, E. E. Slaybaugh, H. H. Mertz, J. H. Huber, Harry L. Snyder, D. P. McPherson, Geo. W. Schriver, E. M. Bender, W. H. Frock, Chas. K. Little, T. C. Billheimer, Harry Gilbert, Morgan Mickle, H. M. Roth, John R. Wills, Elizabeth M. Mertz, Emma M. Mertz, Lena R. Mertz, Misses Kerr, Mrs. C. W. Hummelbaugh, L. Hummelbaugh, J. A. Hummelbaugh, D. J. Swartz, R. Wm. Bream, J. W. McDonnell, Amos Eckert, M. Coover, Eliza Lady, Sadie Lady, Susan Currans, A. Calvin Basehoar, J. W. Myers, J. W. Tudor, C. T. Ziegler, Luther Kuhlman, Fred. Thorn, Misses Skelly, S. D. Ridinger, George Degroft.

The Town Council agreed that the question was not up to them, that the erection of any tank would be under the restrictions of the present ordinances governing the same, and after Burgess had granted permit under ordinance regulating the same and site had been approved by the Fire Marshall, the council was without power to act.

The question of waste water on West street was discussed and motion prevailed that as the properties of Wm. H. Johns on West street are at the head of the sewer in that portion of the town that Wm. H. Johns be given temporary right to enter the sewer with the water spout of his properties.

When the report of Burgess Holtzworth was read of the collections of back licenses the subject of such licenses was discussed without any definite conclusion. Some of the councilmen thought the whole matter ought to be changed and that licenses ought to be charged by the horse and not by the conveyance, and every horse tagged.

Burgess Holtzworth reported following collection in June:

Grain Crop in Dispute.

An interesting grain case was heard before Squire V. H. Lilly on Tuesday of last week. Those interested in the estate of the late William Soliday of Hanover, had brought a criminal action against W. Frank Eckenrode and his sons B. F. Eckenrode and H. C. Eckenrode for forcibly entering into a wheatfield. C. J. Dellone, Esq., of Hanover, represented the prosecutors, and Hon. Wm. McClean of this place, the defendants. The Eckenrodes had gone on the Soliday farm as tenants on the share and afterwards a money rent was agreed upon. They remained on the farm for several years. They put out about 40 acres in grain last fall and April 1st removed, the farm being then leased to J. C. Lawrence. The question was whether the Eckenrodes were entitled to the grain crop, the rent being paid. The Soliday estate claimed that there was unpaid $400 of rent. The Eckenrodes returned at harvest, cut and removed the grain on seven acres and the balance of the 40 acres was cut under direction of the owner of land and their attorney. At the hearing it was agreed to submit to the court of Adams county the question who was entitled to the grain and the criminal case was dropped.

FOR SALE.—A good farm of 121 acres four miles north of Gettysburg, good brick house, weatherboarded barn and out-buildings, some fruit and woodland, running water. Price $2200. Apply to Martin Winter, Gettysburg, Pa.

Reformed Pen-Mar Reunion.

To-morrow, Thursday, July 15, is the date for the twentieth annual Reformed Pen-Mar Reunion that will be attended by many of our people. Rev. Theodore F. Herman, D. D., of Allentown, Pa., will be the orator of the day. Dr. Herman stands in the front rank of the clergymen of the Reformed church.

The "all college hour," which was so much enjoyed last year, will far excel all in the past. Rev. Clayton Ranck, of Baltimore, has charge of this exercise, and few men know better than he how to make an exercise both instructive and funny.

The Wayne band, of Waynesboro, will lead the music in the services, and will also render some of their choice music. This has few equals in the state.

As the reunion comes at a time when the mechanics and merchants enjoy a day off, it is expected that a large number of friends and neighbors from the surrounding country and states will gather in the beautiful Pen-Mar Park on July 15th.

FEARFUL RAILROAD WRECK

THE WORST IN HISTORY OF G. & H. DIVISION.

At Possum Creek Bridge Near Centre Mills—Track Cleared by Sunday Evening.

About daybreak on last Saturday morning, the Gettysburg and Harrisburg Division of the Reading railroad had the worst wreck in the history of the road. It occurred at 4.45 a. m. at the bridge over Possum Creek, a half mile south of the Centre Mills Station, and a mile and a half north of Guernsey. A southbound freight train of sixteen or seventeen cars and caboose left the track for some cause, and fourteen of the cars with engine were completely wrecked, and the most remarkable fact is that there was no loss of life and no one was hurt.

Perhaps the most wonderful occurrence of the wreck was the fact that several wheels of the engine left the track on the north side of the iron bridge and the engine ran across the iron bridge, the seventy-five feet of a trestle on the south side of the bridge, then over a short piece of track and across another culvert before it came to a standstill, and did this feat without any injury to engineer Gardner in control, or his fireman, Conductor Keffer and crew were in the caboose, which was not wrecked and escaped injury.

Fourteen coal cars performed all kinds of stunts, several remained on bridge, others jammed the bridge, completely wrecking a five foot section of the bridge. Cars were thrown across the track, upset into the creek, turned upside down, broken into pieces and strewn along the track for a long distance. Those who saw the wreck say that it was a fearful sight. The road bed was torn up for quite a distance, and wreckage and confusion reigned supreme at the point of the accident.

The wrecking crew of the Reading Railroad was soon on the ground coming from Harrisburg, but they were at the wrong end of the wreck, as the weakening bridge and the broken trestle was between them and the greater part of the wreck. The Cumberland Valley wrecking crew was dispatched for, and went to the scene through Gettysburg, and went to work for a record clean up. The track was clear, trestle and track repaired and bridge braced and the way open by ten o'clock Sunday night, and a south bound freight train safely passed over the point about day-break on Monday morning. The first through passenger train was the Monday morning train. The wreck caused a complete stoppage of traffic for a short time, until arrangements were made to transfer passengers around the wreck.

The exact cause of the wreck has not been established. Conductor Keffer found among the wreckage a broken wheel on one of the coal cars, and is of the opinion that this broken wheel threw almost the entire train from track. The driving wheels of the engine was broken at points where they ran over bridge, trestle and stones, the pony wheels of the engine, and the wheels of the tender remained on the track, and made it possible for the engine to perform the feat it did, but exactly what caused the driving wheels of the engine to leave the track does not appear.

The loss to the railroad is estimated will run between $10,000 and $15,000 which includes damage to the train, the track, all necessary repairs, the cost of the wrecking crews and rebuilding that will be made necessary.

For Rent.

FOR SALE.—My desirable house on corner of Buford and Seminary Avenues. Apply to George A. Taylor, Eckert's Store, Gettysburg.

THREE DISASTROUS FIRES.

A Big Bank Barn and Saw Mill are Destroyed.

About 11 o'clock last Friday night the barn on the farm of Jacob Lamsinger, formerly the George Swartz farm, near Gitt's mill, in Union township, Adams County, was destroyed by fire, with all contents, excepting the live stock, which was saved. The fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiary. The barn was a good bank barn. The loss is estimated at about $1500, and is partially insured.

The steam saw mill owned and operated by Messrs. Frey & Retrew, near Zora, Liberty township was entirely destroyed by fire shortly after midnight on Tuesday morning of last week. The blaze had made such headway at the time of its discovery that it was impossible to save the machinery, and the traction engine, log mill, shingle mill, and all the tools were burned. A number of neighbors had arrived on the scene and through their efforts the main lumber pile was kept from burning. Seventy-five cords of slash wood, 20,000 shingles and a lot of other lumber, were consumed in the flames. The loss on the machinery is partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is not known but it is supposed that a spark from the engine which had been used the day before started the conflagration.

The ice house on farm of C. L. Pfoutz in Highland township, tenanted by Harry Weaver was burnt to the ground on last Thursday night. The blaze awakened Mrs. Weaver who aroused her husband and sons and they prevented the spread of the flames to the barn and other buildings. The ice house was an old structure but no ice was stored in building and the Weaver children had been playing in it the day before with fire crackers and had buried one of the crackers in the sawdust and then set it off, and it is believed some sparks smoldered until the night and caused the fire.

Two Teams Stolen Last Week.

Isaiah Diller of Conowingo township, Adams county had a valuable horse and buggy stolen from his stable on Sunday night, July 4th. A team was located at Lancaster thought to answer the description of the stolen one but Mr. Diller found that team was not his after a visit to Lancaster. It is said that there are no clues whatever as to the whereabouts of the team. Police in all surrounding places have been notified of the theft.

Clayton Yohe, a school teacher of near Abbottstown had his horse and buggy stolen on evening of July 5th. Mr. Yohe attended a meeting of the Hampton School Board Monday night of last week being an applicant for a school in that district. He hitched his team to a post and when returning for the same between 9 and 10 o'clock the team was missing. Mr. Yohe was compelled to make his journey home on foot. On last Wednesday afternoon he received word that the team was found standing in a field near Thomasville, York county.

It is supposed that the team was appropriated by several campers, who, knowing they were being pursued, turned the horse loose in a field and skipped.

The Straban Grange will hold their annual picnic on Saturday, August 7th, at Hunterstown. State Master Wm. T. Creasy will be the speaker on this occasion. July 6.

Emmitsburg Old Home Week.

Old Home Week of Emmitsburg is now in full blast, beginning yesterday Tuesday and will last until Friday. A number of Gettysburg people will visit Emmitsburg to see and enjoy the festivities.

The Citizens Band of Gettysburg left Tuesday morning to furnish the music for Tuesday and Wednesday and a section of the Fifth Maryland Regiment Band will be there Thursday and Friday.

Tuesday will be devoted to a welcome to former residents.

Wednesday, July 14th is Firemen, Fraternal and Veterans day with the championship baseball game between Frederick and Westminster. This is going to be one of the big days and a large crowd is expected.

Thursday July 15 is Civic Day. Governor Crothers and Ex-Governor Warfield will be present and make addresses.

Friday July 16th Reunion Day with athletic sports.

Parades, rough riders, fraternal orders, fireworks are advertised as among the attractions, and a dancing floor 35x70 feet, with the Union Bridge Orchestra on hand to furnish music.

The Gettysburg Compiler sends greetings for big, happy, festival days.

Convention for Gettysburg.

The Committee of State Association of County Commissioners met in Harrisburg recently and unanimously decided to hold the annual State Convention of the County Commissioners at Gettysburg, beginning on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 12 and closing Thursday noon, Oct. 14. Those in charge of the matter expressed themselves as delighted with the opportunity of coming to Gettysburg.

The convention will bring over two hundred delegates. The County Commissioners of the sixty-five counties of the State are members of the Association and many take their clerk and counsel to the meetings. It can be expected that many will bring their wives with them to Gettysburg. Besides many bridge and material contractors attend these conventions.

S. Miley Miller, Clerk of the Commissioners extended the invitation in the name of the County Commissioners to the convention and conducted the correspondence leading up to the acceptance, which means more people coming to Gettysburg.

FESTIVAL.—Rockey Grove S. S. Straban township, will hold its annual Festival, Saturday evening, July 24th. If weather is unfavorable Monday following. All are cordially invited.

FOR SALE.—Two good saddles, an Army saddle and a gentlemen's saddle. Inquire at this office. 2t.

VERY BUSY MAKING BRICK

AT THE GETTYSBURG PLANT OF THE AUBURN COMPANY.

Extensive Improvements Finished—New Owners Enthusiastic Over Plant.

J. A. Seltzer, president of the Shale Brick Co., W. F. Oswald, Sec.-Treas., and General Manager, E. G. Seiter and C. S. Pamley, directors, and composing the Executive Committee of the company held a meeting at the plant in Gettysburg on last Friday. The new owners are greatly pleased with their purchase, and with the work done at the plant to put it in shape for the making of brick. Indeed the owners are enthusiastic and assert with confidence that they are going to make the finest kind of brick in the state.

Mr. Oswald, the general manager, is an expert on the subject of brick making. He manages the other two plants of the company as well as the one here visiting Gettysburg several times a month. He is most enthusiastic on the subject of the material out of which the Gettysburg brick are made. He declares there is no better material in the State of Pennsylvania and that it has certain qualities that will enable them to successfully compete in selling the brick and meeting the difficulties of freight. The proof that this is more than talk was shown in the fact that the first kiln of brick which had been furnished and exhibited to a contractor, won out against competitive bidding in a contract for 40,000 brick for a building being erected in Hanover for the Hanover Shoe Company.

One of the qualities the new company has found in the practical inextinguishable material is its extreme hardness and that it burns better under a moderate fire than the usual intense heat used in other plants. In other words, it usually takes two-thirds of a ton of coal to fire a thousand brick at a heat of 2600 degrees. The Gettysburg material has already been successfully fired with a third of a ton of coal to a thousand brick at a heat of about 1700 degrees. This saving of coal and heat will make it possible for the Gettysburg brick to compete with brick made anywhere.

The new company has already spent over ten thousand dollars in improvements and are prepared to keep on spending until they have a first-class and up-to-date plant. They have so far completed the improvements that they are now devoting themselves to the making of brick. They have a force of twenty-five men at work and will take on men steadily as needed until they are running the plant with a full working force which is estimated will be fifty men. This work will be practically the whole year around. Mr. Oswald says the aim always in sight is "make brick" and make them as good as they can be made and the better the brick the better trade and earning capacity of the plant, and there is nothing in the way of the Gettysburg plant becoming known far and wide for the best of building and paving brick, also a perfect vitrified brick.

The handling of the brick has been greatly simplified so that the output of the plant is greatly increased. Where time could be saved so that more brick could be made changes have been made at great expense. The new owners have built a new drying plant and have utilized all the exhaust steam and heat of the plant by a wonderfully interesting process. The heat going up through the stacks into the air is caught and driven by a fan through a concrete conduit to an apartment, and the exhaust steam is carried to same point and this waste by product is driven by a ten foot fan run by a thirty horse engine through eight drying tunnels. This drying arrangement with the big fan and engine is entirely new and has been installed by the new owners.

The company has bought one hundred and forty steel cars holding about 500 brick each and has built hundreds of feet of tracks for facilitating the handling of brick to the best advantage. As the brick come from the machine the cars are loaded, and then quickly pushed along the track into the drying tunnels. Here they stay a day and then go out of the other end of the tunnels one hundred and five feet long by track to the kilns and turn tables have been placed at entrance of kilns so cars can be turned and run into kilns and from the kiln the cars go back to the brick making room completing the circuit of work.

The railroad track into the plant has been moved back about ten feet adding needed room to the grounds of the plant and the track has been lowered eighteen inches and all this will eliminate the former hard work of loading cars with finished brick.

The company is building a coal switch from the Western Maryland tracks and propose to arrange for the storage of over a thousand tons of coal. At present the coal has to be shoveled off the cars which means a considerable loss of time and labor. When the coal storage trestle is finished, a battleship coal car will be unloaded in a few minutes by dumping.

The company has also installed a new screen that cleans itself and the installing of this piece of machinery has resulted in many changes in the main building of the plant. This screen enables them to get the material to the finest possible form like a powder and the finer the material the better the brick.

WANTED.—A White woman to help cook and help in general housework in small boarding house in Atlantic City. Fare paid one way. Inquire of S. J. BUMBAUGH, Gettysburg, Pa.

The capacity of the dry press and stiff mud machinery of the plant is 50,000 brick a day and it is hoped to get the plant quickly to this mark and keep it there. The new managers say the way to run a brick plant is for twelve months in the year and that is what they will aim to do. Many former unattractive features to the workmen have been cut out by the facilities added, so that with the satisfactory wages they are paying the company offers an attractive class of work to our people. They have had no trouble to get all the help needed and relations between the company and their employees have been of a most satisfactory character.

The company has thoroughly drained the plant. Many of the flaws in the thirteen kilns had standing water in them and every kiln had to be drained as well as many other parts of the plant and it has been thoroughly cleaned.

The Gettysburg plant of the Auburn Shale Brick Company has taken a most important position in the industrial development of this community. The material for the best of brick is here and the company is developing a market at home and a distance that will bring money here, all of which spells prosperity for Gettysburg.

Marriages.

HIMES—WHITE.—John C. Himes, of McAllisterville, Juniata county, and Miss Pauline Marion White, daughter of Chief of Detectives and Mrs. Charles S. White, of York, were married Tuesday morning of last week. The ceremony took place at the church of Trinity Reformed church and was performed by the Rev. Dr. H. E. Apple, pastor. The bridegroom is a son of E. D. Himes, of McAllisterville. He graduated from Pennsylvania college, Gettysburg, class of 1908. He was one of the popular athletes of college during his course here. At present he is employed as a chemist for the United States government at the naval proving grounds at Indian Head, Md. A wedding dinner followed the ceremony at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Himes left on the evening train for Indian Head, where they will reside.

KOUK—MYERS.—Harry S. Kouk, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kouk, of Hanover and Miss Lida Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Myers, of Hanover, formerly of Fairfield, Adams County, were married July 8th, at the Third Lutheran parsonage, Baltimore Street, by Rev. W. I. Redkey. The attendants were Miss Emma Rohrbach and Guy Hartley. Following the ceremony, a reception was given the young couple at the home of the bride. The young couple take immediate possession of a newly-built residence on Terrace Avenue, Hanover. The groom is employed as a machinist in the Western Maryland Railroad car shops in Hanover. For several years the bride was a clerk in the dry goods store of Wentz Bros. & Frey, Hanover.

BAKER—GALLAWAY.—On June 18, by Rev. Amos Sell, Calvin J. Baker and Miss Ida E. Gallaway, both of Hamiltonban township.

Rev. Wentz Called to Professorship.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of Gettysburg College met last Friday and selected Rev. Abdel Ross Wentz to fill the chair of English Bible made vacant by resignation of Prof. John O. Ewen. The appointment is made until next regular meeting of Board. Rev. Wentz graduated from College in 1904 and from Seminary in 1907 and has been studying at the Germany Universities.

Something to Work For.

The Committee of the Grand Lodge appointed to select a site for a Masonic Home for Indigent Masons, their wives, widows and children met in session for three days last week in the Masonic Temple in Philadelphia. Judge Orady, Grand Master and Chairman of the Committee.

Upon the recent visit of his committee to Gettysburg there was a strange omission to have it see the Springs Hotel with its famous spring and adjacent property including its grove of timber. Other sites here were drawn to their attention.

There could be no more eligible site found that in and around Gettysburg and one of the best here is the Springs Hotel property and if selected and large handsome buildings erected the site would be both beautiful and an ideal healthy one.

Forty plots of ground have been offered the Committee, and they have adjourned without action until the middle of August. Two of the Committee are from Harrisburg, Spencer Gilbert and Wm. M. Gorgas. Another is ex-Lieut. Gov. Louis A. Watres of Scranton. It looks as though if the proper interest was manifested by our people Gettysburg might have a better chance than present outlook would indicate. The attention of the Committee should be invited and urged as to every available site here and done at once, before too late to grasp this opportunity.

A BOY AT GETTYSBURG IN '63

MORE OF THE THRILLING EXPERIENCES OF BERT MCCREARY

Taken from His Recent Magazine Article—A Splendid Gettysburg Story.

To have lived in Gettysburg during the war was to have had a thrilling experience. To have been a small boy in Gettysburg then is to have accumulated thrills enough to last a life time. Albertus McCreary was such a small boy and in "McClure's Magazine" he chronicles his thrills. It is an article worth the preservation by every Gettysburgian.

The first was when the town company, the Independent Blues, responded to Lincoln's call. The next was when Custer's gallant regiment camped at night in town. Next came the Confederate raiders, threatening to burn the village unless $70,000 and several hundred barrels of flour and of pork were forthcoming. The demand could not be met, but the raiders spared the town.

"Things had settled down to comparative quiet," writes Mr. McCreary, "when the papers informed us that Lee, with his whole army, was to invade the North. Next we heard that our army was marching from the South. The first indications I saw of the battle was the passing through town of parts of the Eleventh and Twelfth Corps; they were going to form in line of battle along Seminary Ridge.

"We boys sat on the fence, full of excitement. I remember saying to one of my companions, 'There are enough soldiers here to whip all the Rebs in the South.' To us it looked like a great army. It was hours before the last had passed.

"Boylike, we followed in the rear, not dreaming that there was going to be actual fighting. We got as far as the Chambersburg pike, and there we could hear fighting over the Ridge. Afterward we learned that this was the actual beginning of the Battle of Gettysburg.

"The firing seemed to be coming nearer, and at last shells began to plough through the line on Seminary Ridge. When a shell fell only a short distance from us and exploded, I concluded that I had better make for home; so I took a short cut through the alleys for my own door.

"Father was calm, and although some of the family begged him to take us out of town, he soon convinced us that we could not get away (the town was then surrounded by the armies) and were really safest where we were. It was about noon and we sat down to our dinner as usual; but before we were through there was so much noise and racket in the street that we all left the table and went to the doors to see just what was going on.

"The street was full of Union soldiers, running and pushing each other, sweaty and black from powder and dust. They called to us for water. It was a hot July day. We got great buckets of water and tin dippers, and supplied them as fast as we could.

"We were so busy and the noise and confusion were so great that we did not notice how close the fighting was, until about half a block away we saw hand to hand conflicts. It was a complete route for the Union soldiers. We kept right on distributing water until an officer rode his horse up on the pavement among the soldiers and said, 'All you good people go down in your cellars or you will be killed.' We obeyed him at once. Several neighboring families had sought our house, for it was large and well built, with strong cellar walls of stone.

"Hardly were we down in the cellar when we heard fighting all around the house, over the porch where a few moments before we had been handing out water, and over the cellar doors in the pavement. I heard a voice say, 'Shoot that fellow going over the fence!' The order was obeyed and a shot rang out just by the cellar window.

"There were several small windows in the walls and their light cast shadows on the opposite wall of men rushing back and forth; those shadows filled all of us with horror. There was more and more shooting until the sound was one continuous racket. I peeped out of one of the windows just in time to see a cannon unlimbered and fired down the street. What a noise it made and how the dust did fly!

"After a time the noise grew less and less and further and further away. We were all waiting to see what would happen next when suddenly the cellar doors were pulled open and five Confederate soldiers jumped down among us. We thought our last day had come. Father stepped forward and asked them what they wanted and begged them not to harm his people.

"One fellow—I can see him yet—with a red face covered with freckles and very red hair, dirty and sweaty, with his gun in his hand, said, 'We are looking for Union soldiers.'

"There are none here," father answered, but the soldier said he would have to search and that we could go upstairs as the danger was over for a time.

"From that time on we had no fear of harm from individual soldiers. We all went upstairs and the searchers found thirteen of our men hiding in all parts of the house, some under the beds and one under the piano and others in closets. The prisoners were brought into the dining room, where the officer in charge took down their names.

"I well remember my father as he said, 'Gentlemen, won't you have something to eat?'

"The table was just as we had left it a short time before. They were only too glad to accept the invitation.

"While all were eating I went around and took down the names of the prisoners, telling them I would write to their friends. Now that they had stopped fighting both sides seemed to be on the best of terms, and laughed and chatted like old comrades.

"From that time the village was within the Confederate lines. Our house stood on the corner of Baltimore and High streets, and we did not dare to look out of the windows on the Baltimore street side. Sharpshooters from Cemetery Hill were watching all the houses for Confederate sharpshooters and picking off every person they saw, since from that distance they could not distinguish citizen from soldier. On the High street side we could stay out on the porch during the heavy artillery firing.

"When the Louisiana Tigers made their famous charge what a racket they did make! It was as if a million boys were beating with sticks on a board fence. It was not in volleys but was continuous. We took shelter in the cellar again.

"The soldiers taught us how to distinguish between the sound of a Minnie rifle and of a musket ball; also between the different sounds made by the various shells flying over our heads. There were long shells, round shells and solid shot—each sang its own peculiar song. We soon got to know them all.

"We got used in a measure to the fighting, and curiosity got the better of some of us. One of my brothers and I went to the garret, where a trap door in the roof gave us a good view of Cemetery Hill and of the fields near the Emmitsburg road.

"Standing on a ladder with our heads above the door, we could plainly see the cannon on Cemetery Hill, with the men loading and firing. Every now and then we would see a man drop by the cannon. Once the flagstaff was broken, and the flag fell, but it was quickly put up again.

"From this trap door we saw Pickett's charge. A wonderful thing it was to see that long line of Confederates charge across the fields, in good order, until they struck the masked batteries. When these batteries opened on them everything fell into the greatest confusion, and soon clouds of smoke hid them.

"While we were watching this charge a neighbor was watching it also from his trap door. He was peeping around the chimney when a bullet struck just above his head and knocked off a piece of brick. He disappeared so quickly that we both laughed.

"Almost simultaneously two bullets struck within a foot of my head in the shingles of the roof and we followed our neighbor's example and dropped out of sight also. We found that Union sharpshooters on Cemetery Hill had seen our heads and fired at us, thinking that we were Confederate sharpshooters. Many of the houses along this ridge were sheltering sharpshooters.

"Our interest in what was going on was so great that we could not resist trying to look out again, but we took the precaution this time to put up a board so that we could look beneath and were not so much exposed. We could see one house on a side street that seemed to be full of sharpshooters. We saw the flash and puff of smoke every time one fired.

"They were evidently doing so much harm to the batteries on Cemetery Hill that a gun was trained on this house and in a very few moments it was filled full of holes and the occupants were all driven out. Many of the sharpshooters were killed in various houses in town.

"I was asleep on the floor the night of the third day and was awakened just at daybreak by a booming. I sprang up saying, 'Well, another day of it!'

"My brother entered the room just then, his face all smiles.

"What is it, I asked.

"What's what," he answered.

"What was that firing?" I said.

"Oh, that was David falling out of bed. Look out of the window!"

"I looked and gave a cheer, for there were our bluecoated men marching down the street. The battle was over.

"In going over the field that first day after the fight the many strange and terrible sights made a strong and lasting impression on my mind. In one place there were as many as forty dead horses—where a battery had been planted.

"Broken wagons and guns, belts, cartridge boxes and canteens, blankets and all sorts of soldier equipment were lying around everywhere. The fences were all down; only a few posts here and there were left, like sentinels on guard.

"Dead soldiers were everywhere. The stench was so great that every one went about with a bottle of pennyroyal or peppermint oil. The burial of the dead commenced at once, and many were buried along the line where they fought and fell, and in many cases so near the surface that their clothing came through the earth.

"There were some sorry looking homes in our neighborhood. The Confederate soldiers had entered them during their occupation of the town and tried to see how much damage they could do. I went home with a young friend of mine whose family had been in a neighboring cellar during the three days of the battle and found that almost everything had either been cut to pieces or destroyed.

"Pieces of furniture were burned and broken, a desk had been destroyed, bookcases knocked down and the books torn and scattered. To add more to the disorder and destruction the soldiers had taken half a barrel of flour, mixed it with water to make a thin paste, put into this the feathers from feather beds and thrown it over everything—walls, furniture and down the stairways.

"At the time of the war lead was very scarce and we could get 13 cents a pound for it, so all the boys hunted lead bullets. We would go along Culp's Hill, poke among the leaves and sometimes find what we called pockets, a lot of bullets in a pile, eight of a pounds. As it took only eight of a certain kind to make a pound I gathered many pounds myself in this way. The large shells were full of bullets and we found many of them that had not exploded. We would unscrew the cap end, and if we were careful, all the shell with water before we undertook to extract the bullets. Sometimes boys became careless. A schoolmate of mine, with others of us, had been hunting bullets on Cemetery Hill.

"He found a shell, and the contents not coming out fast enough for him, he struck it upon a rock on which he was sitting and made a spark which exploded the shell. We carried him to his home and the surgeons did what they could for him but he never regained consciousness and died in about an hour.

"I often wonder why those boys were not injured. Almost every boy had a can of powder hidden in the house or barn with rifles or carbines to shoot it off in. We would go to Brickyard lane, a favorite resort of the boys, load the rifles good and strong, leaving the ramrod in, and then shoot into the air. We never knew where the ramrods went.

"Another trick was to go to the woods, place five or six large Wentworth shells among dry leaves and sticks, set fire to the pile and run off to a safe distance and wait for the explosion. It made a racket that put Fourth of July in the shade."

Oleomargarine Violations.

The following statement from Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust will be read with interest: Considerable agitation has recently been aroused owing to reported violations of the Oleomargarine Law in a certain section of the State. As Dairy and Food Commissioner, I desire to say that whenever and wherever violations of the Oleomargarine or other Pure Food Laws are discovered by this Bureau, or reported to it they are prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The Oleomargarine Law, like the Liquor and other similar laws, is extremely difficult to enforce, and while violations occur now, and always have occurred, it is the purpose of this Bureau to reduce violations to a minimum and to punish to the maximum every violator of the provisions of the law. To this end I solicit information that will enable this Bureau to locate any violations of the Oleomargarine Law that may occur in any part of the State.

"This is particularly solicited from dairymen, and especially from the public press which has much to do with the formation of public sentiment. While public sentiment is strong against wrong doing generally, and properly so, it is unfortunate that public sentiment in certain parts of the State is more or less opposed to the enforcement of the Oleomargarine Law, and for this reason in its fight for observance of the law this Bureau invites the co-operation and support of every newspaper, every organization and every individual in the Commonwealth.

"The following extracts from the records of this office show the activity of the Bureau from the date of the approval of the Oleomargarine Law, May 29th, 1901, so far as those counties in the section of the State are concerned in which violations of the law most frequently occur and where public sentiment makes them most difficult to suppress: In the counties referred to, viz: Allegheny, Beaver, Fayette, Lawrence, Mercer, Washington and Westmoreland, during the years 1901 and 1902 Commissioners Wells and Cope terminated 133 cases and turned into the State Treasury $5,273.59 in fines and costs; during the years 1903, 1904, 1905 and 1906 Commissioner Warren terminated 302 cases and paid into the State Treasury $23,687.50 in fines and costs; during the years 1907, 1908 and 1909 to June 15th, Commissioner Foust terminated 330 cases and paid into the State Treasury $33,423.28. In addition there are 33 injunction cases pending in the courts of Allegheny county, 13 Contempt Cases pending in the Superior Court for violating the orders of the Court, and 50 First and Second Offense Cases for trial; with a large number of cases before the Alderman and many others in preparation."

A Leading Musical Magazine.

THE MUSICIAN, Boston, Mass., for July contains as a leading article an interesting account of the Bach Festival held in the Greek Theatre of the University of California, April 22nd, under the direction of Prof. J. E. Wolfe.

Other articles of value to the musician and lover of music are "Public School Music and the Public Taste," which gives an account of the work done in three Indiana cities, suggestive of what can be done elsewhere; "How Gounod Wrote Faust;" "Suggestions on Interpretation of Standard Compositions;" "Ole Bull and Vieuxtemps," a story of the rival concerts given by these celebrated violinists in New Orleans in 1844; a number of short articles on teaching and study topics, together with the usual special departments for singers, organists, violinists, teachers and children.

Nine pieces of music are included in this issue. They include vocal and instrumental numbers of great interest, among which will be found the recent European success, "La Spagnola."

UNUSED GRAVEYARDS

Gettysburg is growing each year in beauty, finer buildings and residences and the existence of any unsightliness is a reflection upon the town. There are three unused graveyards that call for attention. The one on the south west corner of Stratton and High streets is simply an overgrown wilderness and an eyesore. The one in the Reformed Church lot is in a sad condition and when recently cleaned up did not improve appearances much for many of the stones have fallen down and broken and had to be piled along a fence. There is an old graveyard in the rear end of the G. A. R. lot at one time used by the Methodist congregation. The stones here are largely overturned, laying flat.

Now it is no difficult matter to secure the abandonment of unused cemeteries. An Act of 1891 provides that whenever any real estate is owned by any church or religious society for the purposes of a burial ground, the Courts of Quarter Sessions upon petition of a majority of the managers, officers or trustees of such church or society shall have the jurisdiction without requiring any averment or proof other than that such burial ground has ceased to be used for interments, may authorize and direct the removal of the remains of the dead from any such burial ground in such manner and to such suitable place as said church or society shall provide.

The law has made it easy to terminate the unsightly existence of an unused graveyard. A vote of the congregation to abandon and remove. A petition to Court by the proper church officers. A notice in the papers under order of the Court of the petition and in a short time the decree of the Court will have been obtained.

Where shall the remains of the dead be removed to? The Evergreen Cemetery. But isn't that Cemetery becoming well sold and with little room for such removals? The Evergreen Cemetery has been recently enlarged by the purchase of twelve acres along the Baltimore pike, which will be taken into the enclosure and laid off in lots and drive ways at an early date and will be able to furnish all the land needed for interment of the remains now in unsightly graveyards.

We urge all those responsible for the existence of the present unsightly named graveyards to get busy and improve the town by the removal of the same. The cost would not be great and arrangements could be made with the Evergreen Cemetery for care of grounds there. One well kept Cemetery and no unused graveyards would reflect greatly to the credit of Gettysburg.

TARIFF FOOLING.

The best thing President Taft could do for the preservation of his honor as a pledge keeper would be to veto the coming Aldrich tariff bill. It is conclusively shown that the present majority in Congress can not be trusted to be fair to the country in any tariff measure, and it would be a relief to the public if Congress would adjourn.

As a sample of the way the conferees proceed to carry out the scheme, the Democratic members were dismissed after the conferees had been in session about an hour last Friday, not to be called in again until the majority completes its job of fooling the people. The Republican party is faithless in this important crisis, as a large portion of it will so determine and act accordingly in the future.

Address by Dr. Webster Fox

The Adams County Medical Association had the pleasure of being addressed by Dr. Webster Fox, the well known Philadelphia Ophthalmologist on last Friday afternoon. This noted physician came here at the invitation of the association and met about a dozen of our physicians from Gettysburg and different parts of the county. Dr. Fox spoke on the knowledge of ophthalmology of the general practitioner of today as compared with that of twenty years ago.

Dr. Fox had a curious experience while here. Some weeks ago he delivered an address at Atlantic City in which he made public his discoveries with glass which has been treated to rays of the sun and which is valuable for lenses as having a certain quality that can not be given the glass in its making. Dr. Fox made a trip over the battlefield while here and on top of Little Round Top near the Warren statue picked up a piece of glass which had received for an unknown length of time the sunray treatment and which Dr. Fox declared to be a perfect specimen of the glass which was the burden of his recent researches and announcements.

SUNSET, AND EVENING STAR AND ONE CLEAR CALL.

May There be no Moaning at the Bar When Life Goes Out to Sea.

J. FRANK CASHMAN died at his home in Cumberland township on Tuesday of last week aged 51 years. Death was due to diabetes. He was a son of William Cashman and had lived his entire life in the county. For a number of years he lived at Iron Springs in Hamilton township, keeping a store at that place, and removed to his present home several years ago. He was a staunch Democrat his whole life and in 1904 his name was presented to the Democratic Convention as a candidate for nomination to office of Prothonotary. The funeral was held on last Thursday services and interment at the Pines Church near New Chester. He leaves a widow, four sons and three daughters. William Cashman of Waynesboro, George, John, Mervin and Alma at home, Mrs. Beamer of Buchanan Valley and Mrs. Reed of near Fairfield.

SOPHIA HOUDSHELL died at the County Home on last Saturday evening at the great age of 87 years. About sixteen years ago George Houdshell and his wife Sophia, lived at Abbottstown. They had passed the three score and ten mark. They had no children and felt then the burden of old age. They had no near relatives in this county. They asked the Directors of the Poor to accept a deed for their Abbottstown home and care for them at their death. Their proposition was accepted and it is doubtful whether more contented people ever ended their days at the County Home. They often remarked that they were more comfortable and better cared for than they had been able to care for themselves. George Houdshell was laid to rest in the Evergreen cemetery several years ago and on Monday Sophia Houdshell was interred by his side in the same cemetery.

WESTLEY WELLINGTON WATTLES died at his home in Pittsburg on Tuesday morning of last week aged 65 years. Death was due to pneumonia following a week's illness. He was born in Gettysburg, a son of Harvey Wattles. He went to Piqua, Ohio, where for many years he was engaged in the jewelry business. Twenty-five years ago he went to Pittsburg and had since been connected with Hardy and Hays Company, jewelers. Mr. Wattles was an active member of the First English Lutheran Church and belonged to the I. O. O. F. He leaves a widow who was Miss Lida Ziegler, two brothers, William W., of the W. W. Wattles and Sons jewelers, and W. Warren Wattles, of Pittsburg, and three sisters, Mrs. Eliza Fry, wife of the Rev. Dr. J. Fry, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Louisa Moser, wife of the Rev. D. M. Moser, of Schuylkill Haven, and Mrs. Kate Kuhn wife of the Rev. D. A. Kuhn of Cornuta, Ind.

MRS. MARTHA BAKER, widow of the late Peter Baker, died very suddenly Sunday afternoon, July 11th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Pfeiffer, of Littlestown, from heart trouble. Mrs. Baker and her daughter had been conversing up until about ten minutes before her death, when Mrs. Pfeiffer left the room and went into another part of the house. Shortly afterward she heard a peculiar noise and upon returning to the room found her mother sitting in the chair dead. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon of last week with services by Rev. G. S. Butz. Interment was made in Mt. Carmel cemetery. Deceased was aged 75 years, 3 months and 2 days and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Samuel Forney, of Hanover, and Mrs. John Pfeiffer of Littlestown.

GOTTLIEB RETTIG, died at his home in York on Tuesday of last week aged 57 years. He was born in Germany and came to this country when a young man with his parents and settled in York, where he was employed as a dyer and followed that occupation until his death. He was a member of the Lutheran Church. The funeral was on last Friday. He leaves a wife and six children as follows: Mary, wife of Jacob Seifert of McSherrystown, William of Philadelphia, Edgar G. Ada M., Alonzo P. and Richard of York. The mother and the following brothers and sisters also survive: Martin, Mary, Louise and Charles F. Rettig.

ANN REBECCA REESE, wife of Geo. Reese, died on Tuesday, July 6th, aged over 60 years. Funeral services were held in the Fairfield Reformed church on Friday the 9th at 10 o'clock, A. M., conducted by Rev. E. W. Stonebraker, after which interment was made in the Fairfield Union cemetery. She is survived by her husband and the following children: James McCleef, John McCleef, Eddie Reese, Mary Will, Alice Sanders, Kate Sifer and Susan Richardson. The pall bearers were Henry Peters, John Baker, Daniel Woodring and Elmer Carbaugh.

HENRY LITTLE died at his home in Arendtsville on last Wednesday afternoon aged 76 years, 6 months and 9 days. He had been ill for the last six months with kidney trouble. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and a devout member of the Reformed Church of Arendtsville, and held in high respect. The funeral was held on last Saturday, interment in Fairview cemetery, Arendtsville. He leaves a wife and three children, Harry Little of Allegheny City, Mrs. D. T. Koser and Miss Mamie Little of Arendtsville.

MRS. NANCY RUFF, wife of John T. Ruff, died at her home in New Oxford on Sunday evening. She was a woman of admirable qualities, winning a wide circle of friends. She was a member of the Reformed church of New Oxford. The funeral will be held this Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the home, interment in New Oxford cemetery. She was the oldest daughter of the late John Snyder of Hamilton township and leaves besides her husband two sons and a daughter. Clarence Ruff, of New Oxford, Dr. William Ruff, of Philadelphia and Mrs. Daniel Menges, of Conowingo township. Two brothers survive, Wallace Snyder of Cumberland township and Frank Snyder, of Missouri.

REV. DR. AUGUSTUS R. KIEFFER, late rector of the church of the Ascension, Bradford, Pa., died June 30. He was a son of Rev. Dr. Moses Kieffer, former pastor of the Reformed church of this place. He studied at the University of Heidelberg. When rector at Colorado Springs he visited his father in Gettysburg.

MRS. GEORGE KLUNK died at her home at Mt. Rock on last Saturday after a two year illness, aged 56 years. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, services by Rev. Father Eugene Haltermeyer, interment in Conowingo Chapel. She leaves beside her husband, three sons and two daughters, Joseph, Edward, William, Theresa and Regina Klunk all of Mt. Rock. Two brothers survive, John Pohlman, of York, and Frank Pohlman, of Mt. Rock.

WILLIAM P. BIESECKER, a prominent and influential citizen of Franklin township, died at his home at Cashtown on Monday afternoon, aged 63 years, 9 months and 6 days. The funeral will be held this Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at the house interment at Flohr's church. He leaves a widow, who was a Miss Heintzelman, and a daughter and son, Mrs. John Hartman of Cashtown and Bruce Biesecker at home.

MRS. CATHERINE ARMOR GETTY, widow of Andrew S. Getty, died July 1 at her home in Crafton, Allegheny county, Pa., where she was an aged resident. She was born in Gettysburg and went to Pittsburg when 19 years old. She had been a resident of Crafton 17 years. She was a member of the Crafton Presbyterian Church. Two daughters, Miss Mary L. Getty and Mrs. K. G. Scott, both of Crafton, survive.

MRS. JOSEPH BUNK died at her home in Baltimore on last Friday aged 73 years. The funeral was held in Baltimore on Monday. She was a sister of F. N. Frommeyer of near Gettysburg and J. H. Frommeyer of Bonneauville.

In and Out of Trouble

The Hanover Record of last week printed the following account of trouble in Adams County man had become involved in.

E. L. Golden, of Boneauville, Adams County, a manufacturer of cigars, it is alleged, made an imitation of the "Newcomer" cigar label, manufactured by D. McG. Newcomer, of this place, which is copyrighted, and placed the labels on cigars which were sold in Norfolk, Va., through his brother, A. J. Golden, of that city. The scheme, we were informed, was worked in the following manner:

E. L. Golden obtained permission from Jacob Newcomer, of Harney, Md., to use his signature and portrait for a cigar label. Golden then, it is alleged, changed the name Jacob Newcomer to J. A. C. Newcomer, to more closely resemble the name of McG. Newcomer, and also manipulated the portrait of Jacob Newcomer to resemble that of D. McG. Newcomer by changing the shirt front, putting on the glasses and necktie.

To avoid prosecution by D. McG. Newcomer for infringement on his copyrighted label, E. L. Golden surrendered 10,000 labels, and 1000 cigar bands. Each also signed an individual bond for $1000 not to interfere with the Newcomer label in the future. E. L. Golden has also assigned his label, called the "J. A. C. Newcomer," to D. McG. Newcomer.

Charged with Larceny.

Two colored men giving their names as Robert Wilson and William Green, of Pittsburg, were placed in jail last week charged with stealing from home of John Wetzel of Fairfield, a coat, hat and two pairs of shoes. When the theft was discovered a number of neighbors started in pursuit and came up with the men near Fairfield. Several shots were fired at them before they would submit to be captured and one of the men was wounded in the right arm, being struck by some shot. After hearing before Squire Musselman of Fairfield they were committed to jail.

DON'T SAVE MONEY

WHERE IT CAN'T GROW

An idle dollar is a fettered giant. It will do a giant's work if you will bid it work. The idle dollar is good only for its face value; the active dollar will soon double itself. Money-earning savings are your silent servants, but to be SAFELY SAVED they must be SAFELY Deposited

BANK BY MAIL

First Mortgage Guarantee & Trust Co.

It offers this great opportunity. It is an institution of conservative Philadelphia, the city of homes. Its deposits are invested in First Mortgages, the safest of money-earning devices. Its President is Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury, a man whose reputation as an astute, conservative and dependable financier is international.

A Few Dollars placed on Deposit in our Savings Fund will Earn you Annually 4%

You don't have to turn a hand. You already know that there is no investment so secure as a first mortgage. By doing business with The First Mortgage Guarantee and Trust Company you are enabled, in conjunction with other small depositors, to earn the same interest the rich man's thousands earn and in exactly the same way. Checking accounts yield 2% on $100 and over. Start an Account Now. A few dollars deposited will blaze the way for more to follow. You can start a Savings account with as little as $1.00. Weak Throat—Weak Lungs

Cold after cold; cough after cough! Troubled with this taking-cold habit? Better break it up. We have great confidence in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for this work. No medicine like it for weak throats and weak lungs. Ask your doctor for his opinion. He knows all about it. His approval is valuable. Follow his advice at all times. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Always keep a good laxative in the house. Take a dose when your cold first comes on. What is the best laxative for this? Ayer's Pills. Ask your doctor his opinion. Let him decide.

CULTIVATE THE ORCHARD

WITH CORN, POTATOES, BEANS AND OTHER VEGETABLES.

Grain and Grass Crops Should not be Grown in Orchards.

The young orchard should be cultivated," says State Zoologist Surface, "but not with grain or grass crops. Corn, potatoes, beans, or other vegetables, well cultivated, are ideal for a young orchard. The ground should be stirred every two or three weeks until the middle of August. In going through the orchard with the harrow, care should be taken not to injure the trees. To avoid this the horses ought to be muzzled and the outside portions of traces and whiffletrees padded."

In going through some young orchards early in the season, for the purpose of demonstrating pruning, Prof. Surface found many cases of trees which had been seriously damaged through being grazed by whiffletrees, or struck or bitten by the horses. In going through the orchard, rub off all unnecessary sprouts.

Getting Rid of Ants on Lawns.

A letter addressed to the Penna. Department of Agriculture was referred to State Zoologist Surface, in which the writer asked for information as to how to get rid of the ants on his lawn, and stated that a certain fluid had been recommended to him by the Department, the name of which he had forgotten.

Prof. Surface replied that the material which he recommended, to which the writer had referred, for destroying ants on lawns, is carbon bisulfide, and then continued as follows: "This is a foul-smelling liquid which volatilizes, and the fumes of which at once destroy the pests. Make holes in the ground near their nests. Make these to a depth of a foot or more, and from one to two or three feet apart according to the porosity of the soil. Pour into each hole from one-third to one-half teacupful of the bisulfide of carbon, and close it with earth by tramping it in. It may possibly increase the efficiency by covering the holes with wet blankets, or something to hold the fumes down for a while. Keep fire away from the liquid and its gas. It will not injure vegetation."

Wage War Against Flies.

House flies have not become, up to this time, as numerous as they usually are at the outset of July. The cause of this may be ascribed to the cool, wet weather of this very backward season. But they will soon be plenty enough, and it behooves everybody to wage an incessant warfare against them. They are the filthiest of all insect pests, and are carriers of disease germs. They pollute the food man eats, and may infect him with the germs of tuberculosis, diphtheria, typhoid fever, and other communicable diseases.

This is the information sent out from the Division of Zoology of the Penna. Department of Agriculture, which brands the house fly as about the worst enemy of mankind, and recommends that timely action be taken to keep the evil due to its invasion at a minimum. Prof. H. A. Surface, the Zoologist of the Division, recommends the immediate screening of windows and doors; the keeping of food screened, especially milk; the keeping of flies away from sick persons, especially those suffering with contagious diseases; and the catching and destroying of flies as they appear.

Sticky fly paper, traps and liquid poisons are among the things to use in killing the flies, but the latest, cheapest and best is a solution of formalin or formaldehyde in water. A spoonful of this liquid put into a quarter of a pint of water and set where they can find it and drink it will be enough to kill all the flies in the room. A cheap and perfectly reliable fly poison, one which is not dangerous to human life, is bichromate of potash in solution. Dissolve one dram of the drug, which can be obtained at any pharmacy, in two ounces of water, and add a little sugar as sweetening. Put some of this solution in shallow dishes, and distribute them throughout the house.

To quickly clear apartments where there are many flies, burn pyrethrum in the room. Keep the fly nuisance at a minimum by the use of disinfectants in garbage boxes and cans, on manure piles and among all refuse. This can be done by freely sprinkling with chloride of lime or with kerosene. Keep house sewers and drains in good order and covered, and repair all leaks at once. It is of the utmost importance to clean all stables, pig pens and other breeding places of "The Filthy Fly" at least once a week.

Pour kerosene into the drains. Cuspidors should be cleaned frequently; certainly once a day. Keep a 5 per cent. solution of carbolic acid in them constantly. Do not allow decaying organic material of any kind on or near your premises, nor allow dirt to accumulate in corners or behind doors. If extra care in observing cleanliness is used, and the directions above given are faithfully carried out, the fly nuisance can be greatly mitigated.

"Doan's Ointment cured me of eczema that had annoyed me for a long time. The cure was permanent."—Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, Augusta, Me.

Mrs. JOHN DRABDOFF, of Bendersville, fell from a cherry tree and broke her leg above the ankle.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Men Past Fifty in Danger.

Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint." Sees Mother Grow Young

"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70 she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed, till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health." They invigorate all vital organs, cure Liver and Kidney troubles, induce sleep, impart strength and appetite. Only 50c at Peoples Drug Store.

combined with medicinal properties, and mixed feeds other than pure grains ground together, and mixed feeds other than mixtures of wheat bran and wheat middlings; neither shall it include hays, straws, and corn stover, whole grains, nor the unmixed meals made directly from the entire grain of wheat, rye, barley, oats, Indian corn, buckwheat, broom-corn, flaxseed, sugar cane, and sorghum nor shall it include wheat, rye and buckwheat brans, middlings, or shorts, not mixed with other substances, but sold separately as distinct articles of commerce; nor pure grains ground together; nor wheat-bran and wheat middlings mixed together, not mixed with any other substance and known in the trade as "mixed feed." The Secretary of Agriculture, by himself or his agents, is fully empowered to take samples of these articles when found, and if, upon analysis, they prove to be adulterated or misbranded the vendor shall be in all respects subject to the penalties hereinafter set forth for the adulteration of misbranding of concentrated commercial feeding-stuffs.

Section 3. No foreign mineral substance, or substances injurious to the health of domestic animals, nor oat hulls, ground corn cobs, flax plant refuse, elevator chaff, cotton-seed hulls, ground corn stalks, rice hulls, peanut hulls, weed seeds, or other similar adulterants, shall be mixed with any feeding-stuff sold, offered, or exposed for sale in this State: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed as prohibiting the use of mineral substances known to possess medicinal properties, and that are not injurious to the health of domestic animals, in compounding stock and poultry-foods and patented, proprietary or trade-marked stock and poultry-foods: And provided further, That any feeding-stuff the crude fiber content of which does not exceed nine per centum, that may be found, upon analysis, to contain either oat hulls, flax plant refuse, elevator chaff, cotton-seed hulls, ground corn stalks, or all of these ingredients, shall not be considered adulterated with oat hulls, flax plant refuse, elevator chaff, cotton-seed hulls, or ground corn stalks within the meaning of this act: And provided further, That nothing contained in this act shall prohibit the grinding of whole corn without being shelled, either by itself or with other grains, or the admixture of ground corn cobs with exclusively corn feeds, in such proportion as to keep the fiber content from exceeding nine per centum.

Section 5. Each and every manufacturer, importer, agent, person, corporation or firm, selling, offering or exposing for sale, in this State, any concentrated commercial feeding-stuffs, as defined in section two of this act, without the statement or statements required by section one of this act, or to which is affixed a statement or guarantee which is false in any particular, or in relation to which the provisions of all of the foregoing sections have not been fully complied with, shall, for every such offense, forfeit and pay the sum of fifty dollars, which shall be recoverable, with costs, including the costs of analysis, by any person suing in the name of the Commonwealth, as debts of like amount are by law recoverable: Provided, That the Secretary of Agriculture shall, together with his deputies, agents, and assistants, be charged with the enforcement of this act, and shall have free access to all places of business, mills, buildings, carriages, cars, vessels, and packages of whatsoever kind, used in the manufacture, importation or sale of any concentrated commercial feeding-stuffs; and shall also have power and authority to open any package containing, or supposed to contain, any concentrated commercial feeding-stuff, and take therefrom samples for analysis, upon tendering the value of said samples; and the party or parties interested, or their representative, shall be given an opportunity to be present when said samples are taken.

A BACHELOR'S LAST CHANCE.

By ARABELLA JASON.
 [Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.]

Aunt Mary Spooner, widow of Deacon Spooner, sat on the veranda of her house in the village of Parkville with some sewing on her lap, when there was a rattle of wheels in the road. A "Whoa!" from a man driving a one horse wagon, and she looked up to catch her breath and exclaim:

"Now, then, if that ain't Sam Bottford, whom I haven't seen for the last six years, then it must be his twin brother, though I know he never had any!"

It was Sam. He hitched his horse and entered the gate, and they were soon shaking hands and asking about each other's health. A chair was brought out for him, and after some general talk the widow said:

"Sam, you are looking worried and troubled, and I'm sorry to see it. Is there anything on your mind that you want to consult me about?"

"There is, Mary," he replied. "That's the reason why I've come over to see you after all this time. Yes, I've been worried for a good spell back and hadn't anybody to go to for advice. All at once the other night I happened to think of you, and I says to myself, says I, 'Why not go over and see Mary Spooner about it?' and that's why I am here."

"I hope you are not going to lose your farm on a mortgage."

"No, nothing of the kind. Mary, I've got to be fifty-five years old, and I've been living alone all these years. I'm the oldest old bachelor in the county. Ten years ago it kinder seemed for awhile as if you and me was going to make a match of it, but it fell through. The deacon came along, and you preferred him to me. I ain't kicking about it. He was a good man, the deacon was, and I was sorry when I heard that you was left a widder. He's been dead two years or more, but don't think I've come a-courting I've got old and shabby and bald-headed, and I know it would be no use to begin talking about turtle-doves to you."

"No, Sam, it wouldn't," was the quiet reply as the widow breathed a sigh of relief.

"In fact, Mary, I'm sorter bound to another woman—another widder—and I'm not the man to be caving around after two widder women at once. She's a woman named Grimes, living about three miles this side of my farm. She owns what they call the Plum Tree farm."

"Yes, I know her by sight. So you've fallen in love with her?"

"Yes; my heart's been a-throbbing for her for the last six months. She hasn't no great shakes as far as looks go, and I wish her hair wasn't so red, but she's got a nice farm there, Mary—a mighty nice farm—and she can cook the best belled dinner a hungry man ever sat down to. We agree on the Bible, on the best way to smoke hams, on having wire screens to the winders in summer—on everything but one, and that is what is bothering me and why I've come over to see you."

"And what's that, Sam?" asked the widow.

"I popped the question two months ago, but there's another feller did the same thing. He's Abe Johnson, a widower. He's about my age and no better looking, and the widder is hanging fire as to whether it is best for her to marry an old bach or an old widower. She says she's got to take time to think it over."

"And you want to hurry her up?"

"That's just it, Mary. You are understanding the situation right off. Yes, I want to hurry her up, and I want the decision to be in my favor. You are a woman and a widder. You ought to know what another woman and widder would do under certain circumstances."

"Perhaps," was the doubtful reply.

"What are the certain circumstances?"

"Jealousy, Mary—jealousy. I've had it all planned out for a week past, and I believe that if you will help me I can win out as easy as grease. I take it that she and me stand about equal in the Widder Grimes' affections. It's like balancing a stick on the top rail of a fence. Abe can drive oxen and not sweat, and in case the preacher ain't there he can take the lead at a funeral or prayer meeting. I can drive a hog out of the garden without yelling to be heard a mile away, and I have made two speeches on the Fourth of July. It's about an even thing between us. The widder is balancing. She may balance for a year if something hasn't done. Something is going to be done. I'm going to appeal to her jealousy. I'm going to make her think she's lost me forever."

"But just how?"

"That's where you come in, Mary. You'll set a day, and I'll drive over here and set you. I'll drive you past the farm and back. She'll surely see us. She'll see us sorter cuddled up to each other and talking confidentially. Right in front of her house she'll see my arm stealing around your waist, and we'll both be looking as happy as all outdoors. The demon of jealousy, as they call it, will bubble up in her heart at once, and she'll feel that she loves me only and must have me or die. When I pass for the third time after leaving you home she'll be down to the gate to stop me and say, 'Sam Bottford, you hump yourself and bring a preacher here and marry me or I'll show you what a desperate woman can do.' She'll say that, Mary, and within two hours she'll be mine."

Come, now, wouldn't you act just like that under the same circumstances?"

"I—I hardly think so," replied the woman after a moment's thought.

"But you ain't red headed, you see, and that makes a heap of difference. Maybe you couldn't be made jealous, but red headed women and jealousy go together. Lord, but when she sees my arm stealing around your waist she'll grow a foot taller in a minute!"

"But I couldn't allow that, Sam."

"Oh, yes, you could, Mary. You'll allow it for old time's sake. Your conscience has always troubled you for the way you throwed me down, and I'm telling you that this is the last chance for me. If I lose the Widder Grimes it's a gone coon. The turtle-doves will never con for me again."

There was more talk, and the Widow Spooner finally gave a doubtful and reluctant consent. She warned Sam, however, that he was taking chances and must put up with consequences.

A day and hour were named for him to drive over again, and he went home with a smile on his face for the first time in weeks. When the day came for him to head for Parkville again he drove at a slow pace past the Plum Tree farm.

The Widow Grimes was out among the cabbage killing slugs. She saw him and waved her hand, but he looked straight ahead and never stopped. This was to make her wonder what was up. The other widow was ready, and in an hour or so the old white horse and democrat wagon came trotting back. The Widow Grimes stood in the open door. They saw that she did, and Sam chuckled and cackled and whispered to his companion:

"It's a world beater, Mary. Lean on me as if you loved me half to death!"

Mary leaned, and two minutes later, as they were square in front of the house, he said:

"Now my arm goes around your waist. The Widder Grimes sees it. Her heels are lifting up. I don't look at her, but I know that her face is as red as a beet. The demon has suddenly appeared, and she's saying to herself that she'll kill any woman that takes me away from her. Lord, Mary, but I shall be grateful to you all the rest of my days!"

They drove up the road two miles and then turned about to repeat the performance. This time the Widow Grimes was halfway down to the gate. She pretended to be pulling some weeds out of the bed of pinks, but it was only pretense. She saw the Widow Spooner lean; she saw an arm go around her waist; she almost heard whispers of love as the old wagon creaked along.

"Mary Spooner," said Sam Bottford, as he helped her out of the wagon at her own gate, "I'm owing you a debt I can never, never pay. You've helped me through like the good woman you are. As I drive along back the Widder Grimes will be at the gate to blow me up, and after the blowing it will be the preacher and a marriage. Nobody ever had such a plan before. It has worked without skipping a cog. Don't you buy no taters this fall. I'll see to it that you have ten bushels to start the winter on—yes, ten bushels of taters and a crock of butter."

"And when shall I know how you came out?" she asked.

"Oh, you'll hear it talked of in two or three days, and you'll hear that we are off on our wedding tour. Lord, Mary, hasn't it worked beautifully—beautifully!"

Two hours later, as the Widow Spooner was eating her supper, she heard the rattle of that democrat wagon again and another "Whoa!" and went to the door just as Sam Bottford reached the veranda and sat down on the steps.

"For mercy's sake, but what has happened?" she exclaimed.

"There won't be any wedding!" replied a hollow voice.

"No!"

"Nor any bridal tour?"

"No!"

"Nor any nothing?"

"But why, Sam, why?"

"Because the Widder Grimes and Abe Johnson were married three days ago! She was down to the gate to tell me as I drove back and to hope that my health was the same as usual."

The Widow Spooner turned her head to hide a smile.

"I knew it all along, Sam," said she, "but I thought you wouldn't ever be satisfied until you had tried every way you knew."

Samuel looked at her. Slowly a smile crept over his face.

"To tell you the truth," said he, "I nearly hollered for joy, Mary. I said sharply, 'Mary, do you want me to remain an old bachelor?'"

And after a little while the Widow Spooner whispered "No."

Nature as a Designer.
 Not the least mysterious of all the wonders of the earth is the extraordinary cleverness of Dame Nature as a carver and designer. Her tools are air, rain, rivers, springs and frost. Any one who has ever seen the marvelous Queen Bess rock on the north Cornish coast, that wonderful presentment of Queen Elizabeth, who is seated so grandly upon the sands, must have asked himself the question as to how much a thing could have been accomplished. Continuous trickling of water wears away the face of the rock. Haphazard it was until at last a weird pattern is formed that sometimes resembles a man's face, sometimes an animal. All over the world Nature has placed her picture gallery and her collection of statuary, the biggest free show in the world.

Another work of Nature's that very often results in extraordinary changes being effected is a landslip. And landslips have arisen from the tiniest possible causes. A little underground flow of water had gradually undermined a hill or cliff until at last the earth became like a hollow nut. Then the soil became too heavy. The sea beat against its foundations, and millions of tons of earth were flung into the sea, which proves the axiom that the tiniest beginnings often produce the mightiest ends.—London Standard.

English Luggage Lifters.
 English railway companies suffer severely through the purloining of passengers' baggage and other articles by platform thieves, and in some cases it is a difficult matter to find out the miscreant. One of these luggage lifters was on an occasion some time ago seen keeping vigil over a barrow of luggage, and in his hand he carried apparently a good sized portmanteau. He walked up and down the platform several times and at last stopped opposite the luggage. Placing his bag on the barrow for a moment, he then poked it up and walked off. But the lynx eye of one of the railway officials had also been watching the barrow, and, going up to the man, had him arrested and searched. It was found that his apparent portmanteau was only a skeleton and inside had a set of springs, etc., which, when placed over a smaller bag, held the latter in position. But for the smartness of the official another traveler's bag would have been missing.—London Answers.

The Hollow Bones of Birds.
 The hollow bones of birds are frequently cited as beautiful instances of providential mechanics in building the strongest and largest possible limb with the least expenditure of material, and this is largely true, and yet birds, like ducks, which cleave the air with the speed of an express train, have the long bones filled with marrow or saturated with fat, while the lumbering hornbill, that fairly hurtles over the treetops, has one of the most completely pneumatic skeletons imaginable, permeated with air to the very toe tips, and the ungainly pelican is nearly as well off. Still, it is but fair to say that the frigate bird and turkey buzzards, creatures which are most at ease when on the wing, have extremely light and hollow bones; but, comparing one bird with another, the paramount importance of a pneumatic skeleton to a bird is not as evident as that of a pneumatic tire to a bicycle.—Exchange.

An Earl's Duel With a Butler.
 About the middle of the last century the Lord Rosebery of that time was in Paris, and in paying a call one day he was received so rudely by the butler that he complained to his friend of the servant's conduct. But the butler had been a non-commissioned officer in the French army, and as such he challenged Lord Rosebery to a duel. The earl accepted, and two shots were exchanged without result. But Lord Rosebery was angered at his own condensation and afraid his antagonist might lay aside his military rank and resume his duties as a servant, thus exposing an earl to the reproach of having fought with a butler. So he settled an annuity of £250 on the man on condition he did not return to domestic service. The condition was faithfully observed on both sides.

Lord Russell's Retort.
 Lord Russell once presided at a dinner given for Sir Henry Irving on his return from America. While the dinner was in progress Lord Russell suggested to Comyns Carr that he propose Sir Henry's health. "I can't make speeches, you know," he said.

Sir Henry gently replied, "I heard you make a speech before the Parliamentary commission."

To which the pungent Irishman answered, "Oh, yes, but then I had something to talk about."

Before and After.
 "That couple used to be inseparable a year ago," he observed, "and now you hardly ever see them together. Why is it? Do you know?"

"Yes," said she. "They weren't married a year ago."—New York Press.

Their Present Names.
 "What are the names of that young couple next door?"

"We won't be able to find out for several weeks. They've just been married, and he calls her Birdie, and she calls him Pettie."

The Touch.
 "Shadbolt, did you ever have a touch of anything like the appendicitis?"

"Once. Have you forgotten, Dinguss, that when you were operated on for it you touched me for an even hundred?"—Chicago Tribune.

Be sure to put your feet in the right place, then stand firm.—Lincoln.

VALLEY TEACHERS ELECTED.

BUCHANAN VALLEY, July 12.—The teachers elected for the valley schools are, Hall's, Miss Edna Hartman; Strasbaugh's, Miss Alverta Kimpke; Brady's, Eugene Strasbaugh.

Master George Wilbur, of York, Pa., will spend the summer until school opens, with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob J. Kohl.

Miss Ethel M. Cole, after spending several months with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kuhn in Cashtown, has returned to her home in the valley.

A. D. Kuhn paid a visit to his daughter and family, Mrs. John F. Cole, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cole attended the baseball game at Arendtsville on Saturday last.

Mrs. Edward Strasbaugh, son Regis and daughter Elizabeth of Altoona, were at Mrs. Elizabeth Strasbaugh's for a week over the 4th of July.

Mrs. Robert Clapsaddle and twin daughters of Chambersburg, spent the past week at Wm. Clapsaddle's and her husband and son spent Sunday with them.

Charles Woodward of Waynesboro, spent the Fourth of July at his home in the valley.

Charles McKenrick is in the valley assisting Jacob Brady to cut the grain on the Jacob Will place that Mrs. Jas. McKenrick had sown last summer.

Miss Jennie Kimpke has returned from Gettysburg where she spent several weeks. S.C.S.

A Novel Introduction.

The Dr. Howard Company have entered into an agreement with L. M. Buehler's drug store, by which a special introductory offer will be made of 25 cents on the 50 cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia.

So remarkably successful has Dr. Howard's specific been in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all forms of liver trouble, that L. M. Buehler will return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

L. M. Buehler has been able to secure only a limited supply, so everyone who wishes to be cured of dyspepsia or constipation should call upon him at once or send him 25 cents by mail, and get 60 doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half price introductory offer, with his personal guarantee to refund the money if the specific does not cure.

P. O. S. OF A FESTIVAL.

ARENDTSVILLE, July 12.—The recently instituted new camp of P. O. S. of A. of Arendtsville will hold a grand festival on Saturday evening, August 7th. New hay is selling at $8.00 per ton out of the field.

New potatoes are $1.00 per bushel. Last Friday night Carmon and Jas. Crum and Guyon Wiernan caught 3 frogs and speared 108 suckers and one eel in the Conewago Creek.

Hiram C. Lady and Harry S. Rafenberger were the first to thresh wheat in this vicinity and they report a good yield and a good quality.

David Thomas of Brysonia had 24 swarms of bees this summer.

Unless we soon get rain the late potato crop will be a small one and all vegetation needs it badly.

A. and J. Mills have added a new porch on two sides of their home.

The carpenters have raised the frame work of Hiram W. Trostle's new house that he is building in this place. Edwin Smelson and wife, Harry Trostle and wife, Harry Wirt and wife, C. H. Klepper and wife and son, Geo. and Grace, spent Monday, the 5th inst., at Pen-Mar, and report having had a pleasant time.

Rev. Elmer Stockslager and wife of Route 2, Gettysburg, Jacob Cashman of Waynesboro, John Rarey and wife of Greencastle, Harry Little of Bellevue, Pa., were here to attend the funeral of Harry Little, last Saturday.

Isaac C. Bucher of this place has been elected cashier of the First National Bank of Bendersville.

Miss Rebecca Slaybaugh and Miss Alice Sheely of Philadelphia are visiting among relatives here.

Miss Elizabeth Francis and Miss Goodnough of Millersville, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Rice.

ON SATURDAY, JULY 24, 1909, John Manherz will sell at Public Sale at his residence in Fairfield his entire possession of Real Estate and Personal Property. J.S.O.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT.

EAST BERLIN, July 12.—Allen Trostle died last week at Beloit, Wis., aged 66 years, 1 month and 4 days. He is survived by his second wife and one son of his first wife. His first wife was a daughter of the late John West of this place and a sister of John West of Gettysburg. Mrs. L. C. Bubb and Mrs. P. P. Eisenhart of this place. He is survived by two brothers, John Trostle of this place and Hallowell Trostle of Harrisburg.

The farmers have hauled in their grain and have commenced cutting oats. This crop is good around this place. A number of farmers have threshed their wheat crop. The Ber. Milling Company is paying $1.11 for wheat. E.L.S.

A FEW PERSONALS

IRON SPRINGS, July 12.—William Scott from Gettysburg has bought the James McSherry property and moved upon it last week.

Mr. Gallagher from Indiana is visiting his brother Jacob Gallagher and family.

A Sustaining Diet.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustainer diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

—Miss Agnes Barr will leave on Thursday for two weeks in Atlantic City.

—John Swartz and daughter of Mansfield, Ill., were recent guests of B. F. Lightner and wife.
